Funeral of Thaddeus Stevens—The Remains Taken to Lancaster—The Tobacco Tax—Appointments for the Twenty-second and Twenty-third Pennsylvania Districts—Mr. Rollins—The Cattle Disease.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, August 24, 1868.

FUNERAL OF THADDEUS STEVENS.

The funeral of Thaddeus Stevens took place this morning at 9 o'clock. The ceremonies were conducted in the rotunda of the Capitol, and the remains left for Lancaster in a special car at ten o'clock. The rotunda was open all night and the guard of honor, composed of twenty-five members of the Butler Zouaves, remained with the corpse. The crowd of visitors, both black and white, kept streaming in last night until about eleven o'clock, when the number grew less, and at midnight quiet reigned in the Capitol.

At seven this morning, the crowd began to assemble near the Capitol. Visitors on entering the Rotunda passed around the coffin to have a last look at the departed statesman, a sentinel being posted at each corner of the catafalque to direct persons, and prevent a crowd from assembling about the coffin. Geo. T. Brown, Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate, who had charge of the funeral arrangements, and Gen. J. A. Eakin, who conducted the arrangements on the part of the family of deceased and Gen. Michler, Commissioner of Public Buildings, were on hand at an early hour, perfecting all the arrangements for the services.

The pall-bearers, eight gentlemen from Lancaster county, who accompanied the remains, were J. M. Parke, Samuel Houston, J. S. Strodiein, J. Jenkins Jacobs, Jas. Cross, E. S. Prostus, W. F. Martin and J. O. Easton. They will act as pall-bearers until the body reaches Lancaster. At five minutes past eight they were arranged upon either side of the coffin, and immediately in the rear of them were a guard of the Butler Zouaves with side arms.

At the head of the coffin, chairs were arranged for the family of the deceased. Senators Trumbull and Sumner and a Committee from the Washington Council were present and joined in the procession, and shortly afterwards ministers, attending physician, the family and servants of the deceased entered, when the services commenced by reading from the Ninth Psalm, and other selections from the Bible, after which Rev. Dr. Gray rose and delivered a sermon of about half an hour's length. Then followed prayer and benediction by Rev. Dr. Hamilton, pastor of the Ryland Chapel, of this city. Eleven Sisters of Charity, from Providence Hospital, were present during the services.

At the conclusion, a procession of friends and mourners moved to the Baltimore depot. The hearse containing the remains was drawn by four white horses. The route of the procession was lined with spectators. On its arrival at the depot the remains were deposited in a car engaged for the purpose, when all intending to accompany them secured seats in the train.

The features of the deceased have changed considerably since yesterday. The eyes and temples are very much sunken, and the face is of an almost saffron hue. A very large crowd assembled at the depot at ten o'clock, but as the train moved off they dispersed.

One hundred and twenty-five of the Printers' Grant and Colfax Club escorted Mr. Stevens' remains from the Capitol to the Depot, and a company of three of their members proceeded with the corpse to Lancaster.

AT BALTIMORE

A train of three passenger cars, bearing the remains of Thaddeus Stevens and escort, reached the Camden street station at 11:20 o'clock, and passed immediately to the depot of the Northern Central Road.

HARRISBURG.

The body of Thaddeus Stevens passed through here at four o'clock this afternoon, when minute guns were fired and bells tolled. An order has been promulgated by the Governor paying respect to the memory of Mr. Stevens.

THE TOBACCO TAX.

The regulations concerning the tax on tobacco, snuff and cigars were to-day issued from the office of Internal Revenue. They are in pamphlet form and comprise forty-two pages, within which are prescribed the various books, forms, &c., carrying out the laws. The regulations provide that tobacco bonded prior to July 20th, 1868, may be withdrawn for consumption upon the payment of the rates of tax imposed by the new law and without being repacked, provided in the case of smoking, or fine-cut chewing or snuff if the withdrawal is made before the first day of January, 1869; tobacco in bonded warehouses at the time of the passage of the law may at any time be withdrawn or removed for export to a foreign country, without the payment of taxes and without any change of packages, upon compliance with the rules and regulations of the Secretary of the Treasury, in force prior to July 20th, and in accordance with the conditions of the law then in force, upon an order or permit from the collector in charge of exports at the port of shipment. Until the special revenue stamps for the payment of the tax on tobacco, snuff and cigars are prepared and prior to the time fixed for their use, manufacturers of tobacco, snuff and cigars will be required to have all their products and property inspected, branded or marked by a tobacco inspector before the same are used or removed for consumption or salt in the same manner as prescribed by the former rules and regulations, and all such to bacco, and snuff, when removed from the place of manufacture will become liable to a tax according to the new rules, and must be returned upon the first return day after the removal, and the tax paid as provided in the old law. The pamphlets also contain regulations in regard to the establishment of export warehouses and for the transportation of tobacco and snuff in bond and bills of lading.

NEW APPOINTMENTS.

The following storekeepers have been appointed under the new law relating to distilled spirits and tobacco: Jay Mix, for Eighth District of Indiana, at Lafayette; Cornelius O'Donnell, for Twenty-second District of Pennsylvania, at Pittsburgh; Robert H. Kerr, for the Twenty-third District of Pennsylvania, and Benjamin H. Brooks and Garrett W. Richman, for the First of California, at San Francisco.

OPERATIONS AT DISTILLERIES, WAREHOUSES, &C.

Quite a large number of reports have been received at the Internal Revenue office with regard to the operations at distilleries, warehouses, &c., calling for the attention of Supervisors. They are generally laid aside to await the appointment of Supervisors for the collection district within which the cases have arisen demanding the attention of an official of this character.

THE CATTLE DISEASE.

A statement of the facts concerning the Texas cattle disease, has been made by J. R. Dodge, Statistician of the Department of Agriculture, as the result of an extended investigation. He makes the following points:

First—That the disease is communicated by cattle from Texas, Florida and other portions of the Gulf Coast.

Second—That such disease is itself unknown in Texas or on the Gulf Coast.

Third—That the cattle communicating it are not only apparently healthy but generally improving in condition.

Fourth, That while local herds receiving the infection nearly all die, they never communicate disease to others.

Fifth, That either a considerable increase in elevation or a distance of two or three degrees of latitude from the starting point is necessary to develope the disease into activity and virulency, and a further progress of two degrees of latitude and a few weeks in time is sufficient to eliminate the poison from the system.

Sixth—That Texas cattle removed to other miasmatic sections as the Mississippi bottom, up the sixteenth parallel, communicate no infection to local herds.

Seventh—Medication has thus far been of no avail. It concludes that the disease cannot become general and that it can exist only with the movements of the Texas cattle, which should be regulated or suppressed, and that it does not result from travel but from climatic causes.

COLORED MILITARY ASSAULTED.

Last night while a colored military organization from Georgetown was passing along Pennsylvania avenue on their way to the Capitol, some person on the sidewalk threw a stone into the ranks, which was responded to by several shots from the company. One or two persons on the sidewalk were injured, one very seriously. The affair is undergoing investigation.

The party shot last night by the firing from the ranks of the Colored Zouaves was a negro named James White, who was standing on the sidewalk, and received the ball in his leg. After the firing commenced a large crowd gathered, and indications of a serious riot were apparent, but was checked by the prompt action of the police and others. The wounded man was carried to a surgeon and the ball extracted.

Hearing in the Case of the Adams Express Robbers.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BROWNSTOWN, IND., August 13.—The Circuit Court of Jackson county, Hon. N. A. Brickerell presiding, had before it to-day the case of the robbers of the Adams Express Company, Mike Colleran and Wall Hammond, charged with robbing the Company by jumping on the express car and overpowering the messenger, on the night of September 8th. 1867, near Seymour. Both prisoners were defended by the notorious Jason Brown, the celebrated thieves' lawyer, of Jackson county, whose boast is, that no thief whom he defended has ever been convicted. Colleran, however, in opposition to the advice of his counsel, entered a plea of guilty, and was sentenced by the Court to five years in the penitentiary and a fine of $500. Hommands, under the advice of his counsel, applied for a continuance, of which, under statutes of Indians, the Court had no power to overrule, and it was accordingly granted. Jason Brown has gained an unenviable reputation as a defender of the Renos, and the very worst class of murderers, assassins and thieves. The Vigilance Committee had given up all further attention to criminal cases, relying upon the Courts as being ahle to enforce order. This now, however, upsets all, as Colleran was willing to take the witness stand and testify in regard to Hammond's complicity with him in the robbing referred to. It now appears as though the Vigilance Committee would have to again take affairs into their own hands, and mete out summary punishment upon the thieves and the thieves' counsel.

A Bold Express Robbery—Adams Express Company Robbed of $7,000—Escape of the Robbers.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, August 14.—Adams Express Company was robbed of about seven thousand dollars this morning. It appears that two men rented an office on the second floor of 114 Second street yesterday, and put out a sign which read B. F. Goodrich & Co. By last night's train the express company received a package from Odin, Illinois, addressed as above, purporting to contain one hundred and forty-seven dollars and seventy cents. This morning a package was delivered by the messenger, who, while awaiting for a receipt, was seized by the throat by a man in the office, and another applied chloroform to him. The messenger struggled valiantly, and not yielding readily to the influence of chloroform, was struck three heavy blows on the head with an iron bar and knocked senseless. The robbers then rifled the messenger's pouch of its contents, and escaped. The package was no doubt a bogus one, and the whole affair a put-up job. There is no clue to the robbers. The messenger, Isaiah Cross, was badly hurt, having three ugly wounds on his head and a severe injury on one hand.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, August 14.—The Times concludes a long article on Thaddeus Stevens, by saying, "The death of Thaddeus is not now a public loss. His impeachment policy was of incalculable injury to his policical party, and the financial dishonesty which he encouraged dies with him. He was a fanatical, bitter and self-willed man, but not mean or deceitful. He is the last of leading Americans who had the courage to rise above political partisanship.

The Morning Telegraph says Mr. Stevens was neither good, wise nor generous, but in his time he did signal services, and with all his faults he merits the famous phrase: "That was a man."

The Daily News says: "The death of Mr. Stevens leaves no important place unfilled, either in the lead of his party or in the councils of the nation."

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ATLANTA, August 14.—The following nominations were confirmed by the Senate to-day: Associate Judges of the Supreme Court, H. K. McKay, eight years; Hiram Warren, four years.

Mr. Campbell, colored, moved to reconsider the action of the Senate on the minority report in the case of the expelled colored Senators, Bradley and Spake, at length, and predicted that if Bradley was sent forth on the world with this foul imputation on him he would be met by the sympathies of ninety-two thousand voters of the down-trodden race.

The cotton blows in this vicinity are well developed, and give promise of a staple of superior quality.

The following highly "cooked up" politico-sensational dispatch was received last night:

COLUMBIA, August 14.—The veto of Gov. Scott to certain radical measures of legislation, has created intense feeling among the extreme members, and a break between the radical and moderate Republicans. Intelligence received here indicates the arming of the negroes in different portions of the State and that threats of violence are made. The leaders publicly say they have a Captain on every plantation, and the whites anticipate serious trouble. The Governor has failed to make a loan of $125,000, and the members of the Legislature are grumbling because the people talk of refusing to pay taxes.

[NOTE.—The "moderate Republicans" must mean Democrats. The dispatch reads very much as if intended for political effect in the North.—ED.]

GRANT AND COLFAX.

Meeting of the Birmingham Grant Club—The South Side Awake.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the citizens of Birmingham was held in the Diamond of that borough last evening, under the auspices of the Birmingham Grant Club. A neat stand had been erected against the Union House for the accommodation of speakers, and Smith & Teorge's excellent band, which had been engaged for the occasion, furnished most elegant music.

The meeting was called to order at eight o'clock by Mr. Daniel C. Ripley, President of the Club, who in a neat and appropriate speech introduced F. B. Penniman, Esq., who addressed the meeting at some length.

At the close of Mr. Penniman's remarks, Prof. Pope was called upon and sang his "U. S. Race," accompanied by Smith and Toerges' band, at the conclusion of which he proposed three cheers for General Grant, which was responded to with a will.

R. J. POWERS, ESQ.

The President then introduced R. J. Powers, Esq., who said: The Democratic party called upon the people to cast off their party and cast their votes for Seymour and Blair. Why should the control of the Government be taken from the hands of the party which has administered it for the past eight years, and placed in the hands of traitors? When he said traitors he did not wish to offend any one, as he knew the great masses of the people were right if they were not misled. The Democrats asked that the reins of government be placed in their hands once more. They had controlled the government for a term of thirty years, and what was the result? At the end of that time the Constitution was violated and the flag insulted, and it had not the courage to resent the insult. When the "Star of the West" was fired upon and James Buchanan was urged to punish the traitors, he replied that there was no power in the government to prevent secession. Why was there no power? Because it was a Democratic rebellion. When Abraham Lincoln was inaugurated the country was involved in a civil war, an unholy rebellion, to crush which two things were necessary. Men and money were both requisite to carry on this war and crush out this Democratic rebellion. What was the result? Abraham Lincoln called out seventy-five thousand men, which were found insufficient. A call for three hundred thousand was made, and, good heavens, what a cry arose from their Democratic throats. They said the war was unconstitutional, that it was an unholy war, and when our armies were defeated they chuckled over the defeat. In '63, when the draft was ordered, they again set up the cry that it was unconstitutional. In fact everything that was done to whip their rebel bretheren was unconstiutional. The speaker then took up the financial question, which he handled in a very able manner. He took the grounds that the Pendleton doctrines of the rebels and Democrats, meant repudiation, and adduced arguments to prove his position. He held that the obligation of the Government to its creditors was even greater than the obligations of individuals toward each other. He illustrated the subject clearly and satisfactorily to the entire audience, and his remarks were listened to with marked attention, notwithstanding he spoke over an hour and a half.

The speaker closed his argument with a beautiful peroration, in which he appealed to the pride and patriotism of his hearers, in a most eloquent manner, urging upon them the necessity of protecting this Government from the hands of those who would destroy it.

Prof. Pope was again called upon and entertained the meeting with "The Miller and His Three Sons," after which the audience dispersed.

The Block Committee reported progress.

On motion the Finance Committee were granted leave to add to their number, as required. The names of Dr. Fleming, J. F. Slagle and W. A. Edwards were suggested as members of the Committee.

The action of the delegates of the Club at the recent meeting held for the purpose of organizing a Central Grant Club was endorsed.

On motion adjourned to meet at the Third Ward School House Friday evening, August 21.

On motion, the President and Secretary were appointed delegates from the club to the Convention to be held on the 25th inst., to form a Central Grant Club.

After the transaction of some other business connected with the organization, the Club adjourned.

IN THE family of Judge Eddy, of Providence, R. I., is a copy of the "Annotations upon the Five Books of Moses and the Psalms," by Henry Ainsworth, a famous English divine in the time of Elizabeth, which is rendered more valuable by the autographs of its successive owners. Among these are Thomas Hollis, Jr., founder of the Hollis professorship of Harvard, with the date April, 1683, and Ephraim Wheaton, 1723, a Baptist minister at Swanzey, from whom it regularly descended to Henry Wheaton, the author of the famous work on International law.

CROQUET.

A painter must that poet be,
And lay with brightest hues his pallet,
Who'd be the bard of Croquet'rie,
And sing the joys of hoop and mallet.

Given a level lawn in June,
And six or eight enthusiastic,
Who never mi-s their hoops or spoon,
And are on duffers most sarcastic;

Given the girl whom you adore—
And given, too, that she's your side on;
Given a game not too soon o'er,
And ne'er a bore the lawn espied on;

Given a claret cup as cool
As ample Wenham ice can make it;
Given a code whose every rule
Is so defined that none can break it;

Given a very fragrant weed—
Given she doesn't mind your smoking;
Given the players take no heed,
And most discreetly keep from joking;

Given all these—and I proclaim,
Be fortune friendly or capricious—
Whether you win or lose the game—
You'll fine that Croquet is delicious.

UNCLE BUNCE.

"He shall never have a penny," stormed Uncle Bunce; "I will cut him off with a shilling."

"My dear Bunce," said I, "you have already contradicted yourself, in first denying him a penny, and then promising him twelve. I never heard you contradict yourself (although often other people) except when in a passion, and that is not the frame of mind in which to sit down to alter your will."

"Mind your own business, sir, and leave me to mine," was the prompt and severe rejoinder.

"Your business is mine, Nicholas," continued I, quietly, "since we are partners. We have been friends, boy and man, for these forty years, and I am not going to permit you to quarrel with me."

"Who wants to quarrel?" said Uncle Bunce, peevishly.

"Well, I don't; but I would rather even that should happen, than that my old friend should do himself such an injustice as to condemn a young fellow, who has no other relation in the world, unheard: your own sister's son, George! I am ashamed of you!"

"Unheard? Pack of nonsense," sputtered the old fellow. "The thing's as plain as the nose on your face."

"Thank you," said I. "However, you may say as offensive things as you please about my nose, only don't be unjust to Charley."

"I am not unjust. The facts are these. I had adopted that boy, and meant to treat him as my own son. He has disgraced himself by betting, on a public race course, a sum he had no honest means of paying if he lost,—a gambler, sir, and a cheat, that's what he proved himself; and I'll have nothing more to do with him."

"You had better inquire into the matter a little further, Mr. Bunce," said I, with some distinctness of manner; for I liked Charley upon his own account, as well as because he was the only relative of my friend and partner, one of the most soundhearted and grossly prejudiced men within a mile of the Royal Exchange.

"There is nothing to be inquired about, Mr. Coe. Even if my late nephew" [It was just like what his flatterers called his "stern determination" to use that phrase; just like his "infernal obstinacy," I say] had the nitty pounds to pay, which I had sure he had not, I would disinherit him for betting; and even if he didn't bet, he was on the race course, and that is a place no nephew of mine should show his face and remain my heir. There is a letter from our Vienna correspondent which requires your immediate attention, Mr. Coe." And with that, Uncle Bunce withdrew himself into the glass case that is his peculiar sanctum at our office, and slammed the door behind him.

Our firm was Bunce and Coe, and there had been no other member of it, save us two, for five-and-twenty years. We were no relatives (though perhaps not less fast friends upon that account) but I called him uncle Bunce because Charley did, who, until that unlucky Derby day, had been as great a favorite of his as of mine; and here were the young fellow's prospects blighted, and the old man's affections left without any human trellis-work to cling to, all because some ill-natured busybody, who knew Nicholas Bunce's hatred of the turf, had told him that Charley Thorton had bet fifty pounds to ten against Palmyra for the Derby, on Epsom Downs.

I had no greater love for Racing, nor perhaps for Charley, than Nicholas had, but I could make a little more allowance for the follies of youth; and when I found myself crossed, or even disobeyed, all the milk of human kindness within me did not instantly turn sour, as it had done in Uncle Bunce's dairy, with the sad effect I have described. He had gone straight to Charley upon the information received, and said: "Did you go down to Epsom Downs, sir, and bet fifty pounds to ten pounds against a race-horse? Answer me, 'Yes,' or 'No.'" And Charley—for the boy could not have told a lie if he had tried—had answered: "Yes, Uncle;" and there the matter had ended.

So, now, being well convinced that Uncle Bunce was as inflexible as the iron in which we dealt, in his resolve to make no further inquiry into the matter, I determined to make it myself for both their sakes. I was not very hopeful as to the result of the investigation, but still I thought there might be some mitigating circumstances—for the fact as it stood looked blacker, it seemed to me, than it ought to do, from what I knew of the young fellow. He was not the sort of lad to leave his duties (he was a clerk in a government office,) for a scene which he knew was especially distasteful to his uncle and guardian, and there risk upon a single event a sum that was quite equal to a third of his whole income. Uncle Bunce and I, it was true, perilled a great deal more than that proportion of our property in "operations" in iron, but that was in the way of business, and it was upon business habits that the old gentlemen prided himself, and for which he looked first of all, in others. That Charley should have shirked his work at the Sword and Gun Office for a day's pleasure was a sin itself almost inexpiable in his uncle's eyes; but that he should have spent that day on a race-course, and there betted fifty pounds—the more I looked at the whole matter, in fact, the worse it appeared for my young friend and client, and the less did I wonder at the lines upon Uncle Bunce's forehead as he sat in his cucumber-frame,—but by no means as cool as a cucumber—and snapped the clerks up so sharp that they trembled to approach his den.

When he left the office for the day, as he was accustomed to do an hour or so before me, his junior, I did venture to remark: "Come, Bunce, you will at least not be in a hurry about this matter of poor Charley; perhaps I may have to tell you something about it to-morrow which may cause you to think differently of him."

"You mean well, Coe, and I thank you," said he, gravely. "But I shall see my lawyer to-night, and give him such instructions as will, at all events, prevent my property falling, after my decease, into the hands of the betting ring."

Stern I had often seen Nicholas Bunce, but bitter never. I was glad to see him bitter, for it was proof that he had been wounded, sore, and unless he had dearly loved the lad, Charley's conduct would not have had the power to wound him. Now, where there has once been Love, there is always room for Reconciliation; and as soon as Uncle Bunce was round the corner I took a hansom to the Sword and Gun office.

It had been arranged long ago that, on the next evening, my partner and I should dine together at the former's house, and we did so. At one time, Charley had been asked, but that was all over now, of course. Uncle Bunce had not come to the city that day, and it was evident, by his wearied and melancholy manner, that he had been occupied in something distressing and disagreeable; indeed, I have no doubt that he had been re-making his will. I was not one whit afraid of the old gentleman, but I was resolved to put a good face upon the matter. "Your good health, Nicholas," said I, as he pushed the claret to me. after dinner, and Charley's good health."

Uncle Bunce started as if he had been stung.

"I do not wish to have that young man's name mentioned in my hearing," observed he.

"After to-night you shall not hear it, unless you please," said I; "but I must have my say for this once. I told you I should do so yesterday, and I promised him the same last night. Then I shall have discharged my conscience; and if you choose to let your nephew go to the dogs, it will be through no omission of mine. I have neither extenuation nor apology to make for him"—

"I should think not," interposed Uncle Bunce.

"Your thought is founded, however, upon wrong premises, Nicholas. I have neither to make for him, simply because he needs none."

"Needs none!" echoed the old man, and although his tone was meant to be contemptuous. I thought I detected in it an accent of hope.

"I mean what I assert, old friend," replied I, quietly. The lad has behaved, I will not say 'as any other young man would have behaved in the like circumstances,' for that phrase is often used to excuse an indiscretion, but I will say this, and then have done with it: He has behaved as a true gentleman, and (especially) as a good man of business, in the whole matter." I held up the wineglass between my eye and the light, and smacked my lips like one who, having relieved his mind, may now afford to enjoy himself.

Uncle Bunce seemed to gasp for air: "What the deuce!—why, you're making a fool of me," exclaimed he savagely. "Do you mean to tell me he did not go down to the Derby?",

"Of course he did. The government sent him."

"The—government—sent him:" repeated my respected partner like one in a dream.

"Just so," said I. "But don't let me trouble you with the particulars of a subject which I see is distasteful to you, and about which you have quite made up your mind. I have now performed my duty in the matter, and there is an end of it. This is good wine. If it's no secret, may I ask what did you give for it a dozen?"

"Fifty pounds, Fifty pounds to ten against Palmyra," muttered the old man. Then: "It's all a lie, Coe," cried he, suddenly. "How dare you talk to me about the government—"

"Mr. Bunce," interrupted I [illegible] will not endure such language. You may be as brutal and unjust as you please to bully me. I am not in the habit of telling lies. The fact is this (if you really wish to hear the fact, and not merely to flatter your own preconceived opinion), Charley Thornton could not have avoided—but stop; first answer me one thing. If Messrs. Bar and Bullion had offered you a holiday on the Derby day, when you were a clerk in their office, upon the condition that you would go and see the Race, would you have accepted it, or would you not?"

"Well, I suppose I should," said Uncle Bunce, reluctantly.

"No, you don't; you are sure you would; you'd have gone like a shot. Well, that being granted, you and your nephew are in the same boat. The government gave a holiday on the Derby day to the clerks in the Sword and Gun Office, upon the condition I have mentioned, and all those who availed themselves of the offer, pledged their words to use the opportunity as it was intended to be used. If Charley, having obtained his day's leave, had not gone to Epsom Downs. he would have behaved unlike a gentleman. That's clear, I hope."

"The government ought to be ashamed of themselves!" observed Uncle Bunce.

"Very likely: but your nephew is not the government, and although I hear from the chief of his department a most excellent account of the young fellow, it is not likely he ever will be. Thus, you see, to begin with, so far from shirking his duties to go to the Derby, Charley only obeyed orders,—and, I have no doubt, with great cheerfulness. This is certainly excellent wine."

"Did the government make him bet fifty pounds to ten pounds against Palmyra?" inquired the old gentleman grimly, after a long silence.

"The Government didn't, but the Office did," said I, "in this way. There was a Derby sweep got up among the Sword and Gun-clerks, as is always the case at every government office; and Charley put in his sovereign like the rest. Perhaps that was wrong of him; but if you never did worse, friend Nicholas, when you were a young man, all I can say is, you were too good to live, and I shouldn't fancy you were ever likely to die of that complaint." I rose, and going to the window that looked out into the quiet street, threw it up to let in the summer air. "Come, come; you'll forgive his putting into the sweep," said I. "I don't ask you to be generous, but to be just."

"I forgive him that, of course, but for the bet I will not forgive him. How is it possible that the Office could have had anything to do with his making a bet which, if he had lost, he could never pay?"

"He won it," said I, quietly; "and it would have been a most unbusiness-like transaction if he had not laid the money. Yes, Mr. Bunce, you have been wrong throughout this matter hitherto, and you are wrong now. I say that Charley would have shown himself unworthy of being your relative if he had not laid the odds against Palmyra; and I'll prove it. The case was simply this: Charley drew Palmyra in this sovereign sweep, so that, if the mare had won, he would have received (since almost all the clerks subscribed to it) at least one hundred pounds. His obvious duty, then, as a man of business—and not a merely gambling spectator—was to make some portion of the money safe. He therefore betted fifty pounds to ten pounds against the mare; if she had won, he would have cleared fifty pounds by the transaction; and as it was, although she lost, the astute young fellow managed to secure ten pounds, minus the sovereign originally invested."

"Ah, that was it, was it?" said Uncle Bunce, looking, I must say, most uncommonly foolish. "However' you must confess that appearances were much against the lad."

"Not a bit," said I. "On the contrary, they are very much in his favor. Come to the window here, and judge for yourself; there he is at the corner yonder, waiting for me to whistle for him. Does he look like one of your cunning hang-dog Turfites,—such as you have pictured him, or likely to grow into any such horrid shape? Unless he happens to draw a favorite in a sweep a second time,—which is not very likely,—I will answer for him that he will never make a bet again in his life;" and Uncle Bunce did whistle, as cheerily as any blackbird; and as the young man ran up, he held his hand out through the open window, to let him know at once that all was explained and forgiven. And then he came indoors, and something which I had caused to be privately hot for him down stairs—for Uncle Bunce's cook loved the lad—was brought up by way of dinner, and Uncle Bunce and I and Charley had a merry evening together after all.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede steadily at thlt point, with seventeen inches according the metal mark here, and twenty-nine inches reported at Brunot. Now if there are twenty-nine inches at the latter place we have no hesitation in saying that there are more than seventeen inches here. It is true, as navigation is virtually suspended, it is a matter of no great importance, just now, but as a public matter, and for the convenience and accommodation of the public in general, and steamboatmen in particular, the marks here should be correct.

We are cognizant of quite a pugilistic encounter, having occurred at a a pic nic at Elm Grove, the other day, between a couple of steamboatmen. A correspondent says one of the parties was knocked out of time, falling over a seven rail fence, and breaking three of his wheel arms.

—Captain De Haven is on his way to Louisville from New Orleans.

—Geo. L. Johnston & Co. of Cincinnati, want to buy a 500-tun stern wheeler.

—The Mayflower takes the place of Commercial in the Memphis and White River trade.

—The J. N. McCullough arrived at Cincinnati on Wednesday, and has laid up there for the present.

—Mr. C. D. Millar, of the Cincinnati Commercial, has returned home after a visit of some three weeks to the Lakes.

—Capt. Dan. Clark, jr., has bought the Mary E. Forsyth, at St. Louis, for the Nashville and New Orleans trade.

—Captain Harvey H. Heath, of New Orleans, died in St. Louis last Monday. He was identified for a long series of years with the Red River trade.

—The Dubuque Herald, says that Mr. E. R. Paul, the St. Louis Secretary of the Northwestern Union Packet Company is an ex-editor, and that a better appointment could not be made.

—Capt Isoac M. Mason of the Northern Line Packet Co., was relieved of his fine gold watch and purse, containing twenty dollars, by a miscreant who entered his residence at St. Louis the other night.

—A St. Louis telegram says: The St. Paul packets are doing a good business. There will be a vigorous fight between the competing lines the coming season. The Northern Line Company will build several new steamers.

—The steamer Tennessee, bound from Louisville to St. Louis, with a cargo of 2,200 bbls cement, struck a rock, at the chain in the Mississippi River, twenty-two miles above Cairo, causing her to leak so badly as to necessitate throwing overboard the greater portion of her cargo. Her bow was then bulkheaded, and the boat returned to Cairo for repairs.

—The following named towboats have reached Louisville with tows of coal taken on the recent rise: Sam Roberts, Leader, Mary Ann, Stella, V. F. Wilson, N. J. Bigley, Tom Rees, Brilliant, Eagle, Keystone, J. S. Neal, Hercules. The receipts of these boats footed up 650,000 bushels coal, 25,000 bushels nut coal, and 10,000 bushels coke. Owing to the low stage of water, there was no transhipment of coal further South, and it all remains in that market.

—The Dubuque Herald of the 8th says: The Pilots' Association, of Dubuque, consisting of the very best on the Upper Mississippi, still hold out, and so does the Northwestern Union Packet Line. The pilots will, in all probability, accomplish their object, that being an increase of salary from $75 to $150 per month. The company have had such experience with inferior pilots, that they will probably employ men whose knowledge of the river and their profession insure safety to boats from snags, sandbars &c.

—We clip the following from the Cincinnati Commercial of Thursday: The funeral of the late lamented Capt. Geo. D. Hoople will take place to-day at 2 P. M., from his late residence in Newport, Ky.....It is our sad and melancholy duty to record the death of Capt. Wm. B. Dodson, commander of the U. S. snag-boat J. J. Abert. He died at Cairo, on Tuesday night at 9 o'clock. The deceased was an old resident of this city, and a pioneer steamboatman. He was a man of strict integrity, enjoying the confidence and esteem of all who knew him. Thos. Trunnell, pilot, and Mr. Geo. Shield, of the engineer department of the same steamer, returned home yesterday, having also been afflicted with billious fever.

WATCH THE POLLS.

No citizen may honestly vote at the Primary meetings to-day who does not intend to support Grant, Colfax and the city nominees. If any man among our political opponents shall vote to-day on such a pledge, and shall afterwards boast of his smart trick upon the Republicans, and that he intends to support the Democratic nominations, mark him for an unprincipled fellow, who would cheat, and lie, and defraud, in other matters besides politics. There is no discount upon that, reader; depend upon it that a man who will make sport of a falsehood or a broken pledge, because it concerns politics, has not in him that underlying sentiment of manly honor which would keep him from cheating you in business, on the first opportunity. No honorable Democrat will do that, or any other thing discreditable to his character as a gentleman. But all citizens, no matter how long they have been Democrats heretofore, who can honestly say to their friends that they mean to vote for Grant this year, are welcome at these Primary polls. The more of them, the better, and there will be a good many of them any how.

It is the more pleasant to say a kind thing of our political opponents, since we so rarely have the opportunity. Let us cordially commend, therefore, the consistent uniformity which marks their policy toward Republican renegades. Of course, they improve all such political treacheries to the utmost, but they never trust the traitor if they can help it. The latest evidence of this comes from Ohio, where Hubbell, the Delaware skedaddler from the Union ranks, was again defeated as a candidate for the Democratic nomination in the VIIIth Congressional district. The Convention had no use for him, in that way. In the same connection, we perceive very decided indications that the Democracy of Allegheny county propose to purge their miscegenation ticket of its ex-Know-Nothing, renegade Republican element. Imposed upon them by a clique of city politicians, they will mark their sense of the outrage at the polls.

Milligan, the notorious Indiana Copperhead, in a recent speech delivered near Logansport, after arguing the entire equality of the Confederate soldiers with the boys in blue, proceeded to justify the repudiation of our own war debt, under the same constitutional provisions which forbid the recognition of the rebel obligations. That is about what the arguments of the Pennsylvania Copperheads will sift down to.

It is officially reported from Texas, that in the three years ending with June last, no less than nine hundred and thirty-nine homicides were committed within the State. The murderers were, with few exceptions, "either Confederate officers or soldiers, or bush-whackers, during the late war, and now constitute one of the legitimate entailments of secession and rebellion."

VOTE TO-DAY!

Every voter in this city, who will support Grant and Colfax, and the Republican city nominees, is particularly invited and urged to attend the primary polls this afternoon, and indicate his preferences for a municipal ticket. The candidates who secure a favorable expression from the greatest number of voters will thereby become the selected regular ticket of the party, to be supported by all Republican electors. Therefore, let every friend of Brush, of Robb, of Jeremy, for Mayor, every friend of Allinder, Little, Tomlinson or Cochran, for Treasurer, and of Steel or of McGowan for Controller, make it his especial business to go to the polls in his precinct between three and seven P. M., and say what candidates he likes best. Don't stay at home, unless you have good reasons why you cannot spare half an hour from your regular occupations. Don't stay away when you can go as well as not, and then grumble afterwards because your favorite may not be nominated. Go and do all you can for your own friends, and then go in for the ticket heartily, be the candidates whom they may.

THE PRESIDENTS' NEW COUNSELLOR.

The rebel Democracy are most unpleasantly gravelled, by the suspected acquiescence of the President in the orders transmitted South by Secretary Schofield, relative to the employment of the Federal force in maintaining the reconstructed governments. Their intimate friends of the whisky ring are also sorely grieved by the wise and commendable disposition made of the Revenue Bureau imbroglio, under the opinion of Attorney General Evarts In short, these restless and dengerous factions have become seriously apprehensive that Mr. Johnson is about to turn his back upon his own three years' policy of opposition to Congress, and to surrender himself gracefully and cordially to the great loyal party of the people. As it is, however, a favorite piece of tactics with these fellows to affect a confidence which they do not really feel, and as they have often, heretofore, succeeded in leading the President by appeals to his prejudices and to his combativeness, they are now actively at work, attacking the new Attorney General and repeating all the old partizan and rebel objections to Reconstruction. With the same view, they are industriously telegraphing to all quarters of the country that Mr. Johnson surrenders none of his former opinions, and that the Congressional policy is as obnoxious as ever to his views under the Constitution. As, however, we learn that he has just instructed Mr. Evarts to prepare an opinion on the status of the new governments in the light of the Constitution, with a view to a final decision as to his own duty upon the great questions of reconstruction and restoration; and as the whole world knows already the sentiments of Mr. Evarts upon those kindred questions, it is very fair to infer that, in a short time, the discomforts and apprehensions which now spoil Democratic sleep o' nights will be aggravated not only past endurance, but past cure. When Andrew Johnson has learned so much of practical wisdom, self-control and practical statesmanship as to take good advice before action, instead of acting, as in years past, before taking any advice whatever, and when he refers so grave a question to his present Attorney General, the country may safely conclude that the opponents to a policy of peace, and order, and law, are in a good way to get a better legal opinion than they will have the stomach for.

LET US HAVE A GOOD TICKET!

The way to do it, is for every friend of Grant and Colfax to go to the Primaries this afternoon, and help make one. The polls open at 3 P. M. and remain open until 7 o'clock. Let all those who can, go early, so as to make room for the masses of citizens whose business or employments shall keep them away until 6 o'clock. And let every employer, who is sincerely a friend of Grant and the good cause, either dismiss his workmen half an hour earlier, or give them an half hour, earlier in the afternoon. A considerate Republican employer would watch the polls in his district, and at which the bulk of his Republican friends and employees would vote, and, when he saw the polling a little slack, seize that moment to send them in. Thus the average loss of time would be but a few moments. Let us have every vote recorded to-day, and the selected ticket cannot fail to be satisfactory.

An indication of great political importance appears at Baltimore. A large number of Conservatives who, since the closing of the war, have acted with the Democracy, are now decided to vote for Grant. At a meeting held on the 12th, it was determined to publish an address to the Conservative Union men of the country, urging them to vote for Grant and Colfax. Those composing the meeting were mainly men who were the first to follow the lead of Swann, and were his efficient assistants in breaking down the Registry law of Maryland. Negro suffrage has lost its terrors for them, and they are ready to come back to the fold of Republicanism. The names of gentlemen present at the meeting included a score or more of prominent local politicians, and their action indicates very clearly the set of the popular current everywhere.

SHALL PITTSBURGH HAVE A GOOD MAYOR!

Let every friend of Grant and Colfax who would say yes to that question, make it his business to do his part in securing the right nomination. Remember, friends, that the man you nominate to-day will be elected. Can't you spare a half hour to secure a fortunate and creditable result?

"LET US HAVE PEACE."

These are the closing words of General Grant's letter of acceptance of his nomination as candidate for Presidency by the unanimous voice of the Republicans of every State, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and from the Lakes to the Gulf, and, under the circumstances, no grander words were ever uttered since the God-man commanded peace amid the tempest on the Gallilean Sea.

In these words Grant gave a motto to the Republican party, and one that must find a response in the heart of every good man, no matter what he may call himself politically. It is an aspiration which would go up with acceptance to the Eternal Throne, and is one fit to be breathed on bended knees at the fireside or in the closet into the ears of Him who alone "maketh us to dwell in safety." No country ever needed the blessings of peace more than ours; and none ever yearned more for it than the great body of our people, hardly a family of whom did not lose a father, son or friend. And from whom could such a sentiment as this come with more sublime propriety than from the noble hero who led the citizen soldiers who crushed out that cursed rebellion and gave us peace.

Now look at the other side. "There is but one way," says Frank Blair, in his letter published just before the meeting of the New York Convention, and which caused the rebel-democracy to nominate him for the second office almost by acclamation—"There is but one way to restore the Government and the Constitution, and that is for the President elect to declare these acts null and void; compel the army to undo its usurpation at the South; disperse the carpet-bag State governments; allow the white people to reorganize their own governments, and elect Senators and Representatives."

Now reduce all this to four words, as Grant did, and what must they be?

"LET US HAVE WAR!"

So the question is narrowed to a point, and may be put thus: All who are in favor of peace will signify it by casting their suffrages to Grant and Colfax; and all who desire another rebellion and civil war—another awful period of carnage, a vast expenditure of treasure, a reign of anarchy, confusion and terror, a complete disruption of the national unity, and the sway of a military dictator with no check upon his actions but his own arbitrary will—will signify their choice by voting for Seymour and Blair. The issue is simply Peace or War.

NO LOG-ROLLING TO-DAY.

If there is to be any log-rolling or trickery at the primary meetings this afternoon, the people will have themselves to blame for it. They cannot place the censure upon unfaithful delegates. The people hold the affair entirely in their own hands, and can do with it just what they please. Thus, they are tolerably sure to be pleased with the result. Let the honest voter, who has heard something about log-rolling and political dickering in the matter of nominations, and who may be anxious to see for himself what it means, go to his polls this afternoon and look sharp for any work of that sort. If he finds any, it will probably be something that he has himself a hand in. Who then can he blame?

Although the English at Liverpool cheered Jefferson Davis upon his arrival at that port, it seems that the same people abuse Horatio Seymour. This, at first sight, appears to be somewhat inconsistent, the one being the prince of rebels, the other the candidate of the rebels. But that has nothing to do with the matter. They see in Davis a bold rebel, a character which people of foreign nations almost instinctively admire; but human nature, prompted by a still stronger instinct, arrays itself in hostility against anything that bears the form of the serpent, and which stings the bosom that shelters and warms it. The term "copperhead," so largely used in our political discussions and harangues, is, in American vernacular, the equivalent for viper, as that term is used, in a metaphorical sense, in sacred writ and classical literature. It was no coarse, blind love of an opprobious epithet which caused that word to stick as it did; but its exact fitness, as a metaphor, to express the character of those to whom it was applied—traitors who dared not to rise to the dignity of rebels and open enemies; but who, from their lurking places, stung the nation's heel while engaged in deadly conflict. The people on the other side of the Atlantic know something of the several parts played by Grant, Davis and Seymour in the war of the Great Rebellion; and although many of them may have wished to see the success of the rebellion and the dismembership of this Union; yet they know how to honor the national hero who crushed the tremendous uprising and preserved the integrity of his country.

Very large meetings were held by the Republicans of Chicago and of Cincinnati, on Wednesday evening last, and their city journals overflow with glowing reports of the proceedings of the enthusiastic multitudes. The annexed editorial paragraphs will afford to our readers some idea of the feeling which animates their friends, as well throughout the land as in the cities specially referred to:

The demonstration of Republican enthusiasm last night exceeds the limits of description. We do not pretend to portray it, because delineation would be supererogation. The immense crowd present not only indicated the popularity of Grant and Colfax in this locality, but foreshadowed the conviction which is abroad in every part of the country. We must conclude that Illinois, the adopted home of Grant, will vote for the Republican ticket by a majority which will unsettle the anticipation of the most enthusiastic and confident of Democrats. If the long procession is to be accepted as an exemplification of the strength of Grant and Colfax in Chicago, it may be taken for granted that Seymour and Blair have no more chance of success than Lee had of winning at Appomattox Court House.—Chicago Republican.

The pleasant delusion that there is no enthusiasm for Grant and Colfax in these parts will hardly be cherished after the demonstration of last evening. The torch-light procession was the largest and finest that has been seen here since 1860; and the crowd in the Sixth street market-space was enormous. For the first demonstration of the campaign it exceeded the expectation of the most hopeful, and will greatly strengthen confidence in the success that waits upon thorough organization and systematic and sustained effort.—Cincinnati Commercial.

The Democrats imported rebels from the South to stump the North against Lincoln, and initiate rebellion. They are now importing the same class of men to stump the North against Grant, and initiate revolution.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

The question of re-union among the Presbyterians, Old and New School, occupies considerable space in the journals of each body. The discussion has opened new elements, and while new controversies are developed thereby, the main features are intact, and the result will be that a better and clearer understanding between all concerned will be attained, and the grand consummation accomplished sooner or later. The "Pittsburgh Circular" seems to be growing in favor, as we observe new names are added weekly in the Banner of this city. The sweet-spirited Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler, of the New School body, fears that while the Pittsburgh-Allegheny Plan of Union (on the standards, "pure and simple,") is an admirable one, per se, delay may be caused by the substitution of it for the one submitted by the General Assemblies, and may lead to new discussions, and open new controversies. However, he says the New School are ready for union either on the "Pittsburgh Basis," or the Committee's Basis, and promises that they will trust the Old School brethren, and they expect them to trust his brethren. He thinks they are just as sound in their allegiance to the good old standards of faith as any brother at Princeton, or Allegheny, and have no fears of "standing an examination" before even the veteran Presbytery of New Brunswick. In short, he says they are waiting with open arms to embrace their brethren of the other branch in the one common faith "once delivered to the saints." We notice in the Banner that Philadelphia is suggested as the place for holding the first General Assembly of the United Church. San Francisco is making a bid for the honor, but as well suggested, when the grand Pacific Railway is completed, will be a good time to respond to the invitation to meet on the Pacific Coast.

Comparatively few persons really understand the exact views of the Reformed Presbyterian Church on Psalmody. Rev. Thomas Sproull, of Allegheny city, Pa., who represents the Old Side body, and is good authority, gives the views of his Church in the Presbyterian, in order to correct certain representations made by Dr. J. F. McLaren, who is writing a series of articles on the subject in that paper. He denies the assertion, that his Church assumes that they sing alone "inspired Psalmody," and says that idea never entered into their minds. He argues thus: "Do we not call our English Bible God-given book? The inspired volume? And do we mean anything more than that is a translation of the inspired originals? Why not allow us the same latitude of expression in regard to a version of a part of the Bible all Protestants claim for themselves in regard to the whole?" He thinks that the Scottish version is the best and they sing it because it is a version of the inspired Psalms. The same necessity that requires the use of a version of the Bible in devotional reading, requires the use of a version of the Psalms in devotional singing.

The special Mission work under the auspices of the Baptists at the Mariner's Church, at the corner of Oliver and Henry streets, New York City, is in a very prospering state. Dr. Hodge, the pastor, is assisted by three seamen. The membership is between five and six hundred, more than half of whom are seamen. In the last quarter more than one hundred seamen have signed the pledge; some two thousand have been induced to attend worship. Bible tract and other religious reading have been distributed extensively.

Reference was recently made to the holding of the National Unitarian Convention in New York, October 6th, 7th and 8th, since which we learn that all churches and organizations in sympathy with the general ideas and work of Liberal Christians are invited to send delegates. The Independent says it is proposed to give but little time to denominational statistics and affairs, and to devote most attention to the discussion of such questions as connect with the general improvement of society and the Christianization of the masses. We note in this connection that the Annual Session of the General Convention of Universalists in the United States of America will be held in the city of Providence, Rhode Island, commencing on Tuesday, September 15th, 1868.

The venerable Heman Bangs, D. D., of New York, a Presiding Elder (Methodist) of a large District, though in his seventy-ninth year, is active and laborious in his work. It is well said that few of the young preachers either do or could endure the amount of ministerial duty which this time-scarred veteran smiles under year after year.

At the Philadelphia yearly meeting of the Quakers, a member in good standing in other regard, was not allowed to speak because hat and coat did not correspond to the fashions of William Penn. The Herald of Peace, a liberal journal of the Friends, thinks that this spiritual slave-power should be overthrown, and that a better reason for restricting the right of speech should be given than that the dress is not to their notion.

The graduating class of Yale College numbers one hundred and six members. Of these, says the Advance, of Chicago, seventy smoke and fifteen chew tobacco, nearly seventy play billiards, and ninety-six (all but ten of the class,) play cards. The strangest thing about it is that eighteen of the class are to study theology, which must include at least eight of the card players.

St. James Episcopal Church, at Milwaukee, was formally opened upon the Festival of the Patron Saint, 25th ult., with interesting services. Bishop Whitehouse, of Illinois, preached an eloquent sermon on the occasion. Rev. John Scarborough, Rector of Trinity Church, Pittsburgh, was present and participated.

Universal regret exists among Episcopalians at the unexpected death of Dr. H. D. Evans, of Maryland, a distinguished lawyer and well known author. He was elected to represent the Diocese of Maryland in the approaching General Convention, and was pledged to offer for the consideration of that body, a draft of the new canon proposed on Marriage and Divorce. Dr. Evans was eminently fitted for the work, being a writer of merit and ability.

Rev. Alex. Clark, pastor of the First Methodist (Protestant) Church, Fifth street, Pittsburgh, was at last accounts on the summit of Mount Washington, New Hampshire, having accomplished the ascent on foot and without a guide, a task not easily done, when it is remembered this peak rises sixty-three hundred feet above the ocean level. The Methodist Recorder represents that his health is improving by this needed rest, and that his voice is getting clear and strong again.

A correspondent of the Christian Herald writes that there are two church edifices in Humbolt, Kansas, a town of about six hundred inhabitants, a United Brethren and a a Roman Catholic, and that "if there be a drinking hole in the place he has not seen it." This correspondent on the occasion of his visit to that place organized a New School Presbyterian Church.

The Springfield Republican gives an account of the singular conduct of a man in that city named Marcus Tourtellotte, who, in order to compel the colored Methodist Church to sell its premises, because the people are noisy in their worship, has built a fence around the church as high as the eaves, only eighteen inches distant on one side and about a yard on the other. To render it still more offensive, the fence is painted black on the side next the church, which is rendered dark in the midst of day, and so hot on Sabbaths as to be absolutely stifling. The spirit of this man is very unlike the temper of the Gospel of Christ, and unless his heart is changed by the power of divine grace, he is in danger of a noisier association than he is troubled with on Loring street.

At the meeting of the B'ni B'rith, or (Jewish) Sons of the Covenant, a beneficiary association numbering one hundred and twelve lodges, held recently at New York, one of the speakers declared the principles of the order were that the restoration of the Jews to Palestine and the expectation of the advent of the Messiah were no longer tests of orthodoxy in Judaism. They believed in the brotherhood and common destiny of all mankind.

The Presbyterian Banner says Rev. Washington Baird, a native of Western Pennsylvania, a graduate of Jefferson College, and the first editor of the Southern Presbyterian, did at Clayton, Georgia, on the 25th ult.

In the paragraph quoted below, the N. Y. Tribune accepts recent intelligence from Washington in a spirit so conciliatory and hopeful that we should regret to be compelled hereafter to chronicle its disappointment. It says:

There remains no doubt that the Executive branch of the Government recognizes the validity of the work of Reconstruction accomplished by Congress. This course on the part of the President will receive the unqualified praise of every lover of liberty, union and peace. On a very vital point—indeed, on near the whole issue which has separated the President from Congress—it restores the harmony between the Legislative and Executive powers, and goes very far to assure the peaceful solution of the vexatious problem of Reconstruction. Disregarding, as he himself has done, the issues now past, a grateful people will thank him heartily for his course and trust that he may carry it out to the end.

—At Belfast, Maine, Hon. Asa Griswell was yesterday nominated by the Democrats for Congress, and Wm. H. Simpson for Elector.

IS YOUR DISEASE RHEUMATISM?

Many persons, supposing they are suffering from this disease, have applied Liniments, Plasters and other Rheumatic Remedies without obtaining any relief, when in fact the cause of pain is a derangement of the Kidneys. These are small organs, but very important, and any obstruction or interference with its functions are indicated by pain in the back and loins, languor and weakness, difficulty in avoiding and unnatural color of the urine. A Diuretic should at once be resorted to.

DR. SARGENT'S

SHATTERED CONSTITUTIONS.

Our constitutions are elastic. They are not easily shattered. In fact, strictly speaking, Death alone can shatter them, for they represent the reserve of vitality, which enables the enfeebled system to react, when the pressure of disease is removed from it. But it is the fashion, when the body is weak, the circulation languid, the nerves tremulous and the mind depressed, to say that the constitution is ruined, or broken down, or shattered. In cases of the kind described, administer HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, and it will soon be seen how little ground there is for this stereotyped note of alarm. The tonic and alterative properties of the specific, rapidly diffused through the whole organization by the stimulant which forms the basis, will immediately create a favorable reaction, and this reanimating process will go on as the medicine is continued, until strength, health and mental activity are completely restored. Every day cures of this kind are accomplished. Let the debilitated invalid, when told by his condoling friends that "his constitution is shattered," have recourse at once to this strength-recruiting preparation, in which the finest stomachics and alteratives of the vegetable kingdom are represented, and he will soon be able to meet their gloomy forebodings with a confident smile, and to announce that he has taken a new lease of life under its vitalizing operation.

CHRONIC DISEASES OF THE EAR.

In observations and notes taken by Dr. KEYSER, of this city, on the various diseases of the ear, he says that nine out of ten cases could be cured in their incipiency if application were made to some responsible and competent aural surgeon. The Doctor quotes from the opinion of Wilde, a well known aural surgeon, who says: "I fear not to reiterate the assertion which I made on several former occasions, that if the disease of the ear were as well studied or understood by the generality of practitioners, and as early attended to as those of the eye, it would be found that they were just as much within the pale of scientific treatment. * * Deafness is so common and so distressing an infirmity, and when of long standing so incurable, that we cannot too strongly urge all medical practitioners to make themselves familiar with the treatment of the diseases of the ear."

The Doctor says that nearly all annoying Discharges, Buzzings and Morbid Growths peculiar to the organ of the hearing, some of which had lingered through a score or two of years, can be cured or ameliorated by proper treatment.

COW-MILKER.

Wanted immediately, all who are looking for business to call and examine the HYDRAULIC COW-MILKER—"a sure cure for acheing hands and kicking cows." It milks the four teats of a cow at once; it imitates the calf, draws and stops drawing to swallow; it will milk any cow perfectly dry in three minutes: it is operated by hand, dog, horse or other power. One man can attend several machines, milking as many cows at once. It is simple, durable and self-adjusting; will fit any cow; milks three-teat cows as well as any; easily worked; not liable to get out of order, and has proven by practical use to be more agreeable to the cow than hand-miliking. A rare opportunity is now offered to enterprising men, either to travel or locate in city or country. Call and examine for yourselves.

☞REPUBLICAN

CITY CONVENTION.

The Republicans of the City of Pittsburgh are hereby invited to attend Primary Meetings in their respective Wards on SATURDAY, August 15th, 1868,

Between the hours of 3 and 7 P. M., and there vote for candidates to be placed in nomination for the several city offices, viz:

One person for Mayor of said city.
One person for Controller of said city.
One person for Treasurer of said city.

The voting at said meetings will be by printed or written ballots, containing the names of the candidates voted for, each office on a ticket by itself, and the elections, as far as practicable, will be conducted in accordance with the laws and usages regulating State, county and city elections, the officers taking care to keep a correct list of all persons voting thereat.

The elections will be conducted, wherever it can be done, by the Republican election officers chosen at the last city election; and in wards where no such officers were chosen, the officers to conduct the election have been designated, as hereinafter mentioned, by the City Committee.

The Committee suggest that the officers thus designated to hold this election shall voluntarily take the usual affidavit administered to election officers under the laws of the State, so as to shut out all cause of complaint.

The election in the First and Second Wards will be held at the Public School Houses in said wards.

In the Third Ward at the Public School House.
In the Fourth Ward at the Public School House.
In the Fifth Ward in the office of the Clerk of the Orphans' Court, at the Court House, under the supervision of W. B. Neeper, George Glass and R. J. Smith, who are appointed the Board to hold said election.
In the Sixth Ward at the Public School House.
In the Seventh Ward at the Public School House.
In the Eighth Ward at the house of Henry Wilson.
In the Ninth Ward at the Public School House.
In the Tenth Ward at the house of Wm. Brown, at the corner of Penn and Mechanics streets.
In the Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Fifteenth and Seventeenth Wards, at the usual places of holding elections in said wards.
In the Sixteenth Ward at the Wigwam, corner of Pearl and Main streets, under the supervision of Noah G. Craig, Roland Smith and John C. Stewart.
In the Eighteenth Ward at the place of holding elections for what was heretofore known as the 2d precinct of Collins township, under the supervision of David Jones, David Holmes and David Kirk.
In the Nineteenth Ward at Joseph Ganster's house on the Green burg turnpike, under the supervision of John N. Berlin, Wm. H. Morrison and James Joyce.
In the Twentieth Ward at Beitler's School House, under the supervision of Wm. H. Denniston, Geo. F. Rahauser and John R. Baum.
In the Twenty-first Ward at Wigwam (now built) in said ward, on the land of George Finley, near sand wash, on the corner of Spring street and the Puckerty road, under the supervision of A. J. Woolslayer, S. B. Ross and B. W. Morgan.
In the Twenty-second Ward at Irwin's School House, under the supervision of John R. Murdock, William Irwin and Randal Morton.
In the Twenty-third ward at the usual place for holding elections in late Peebles township, under the supervision of Joseph Boals, James B. Palmer and James McKibben.

Every supporter of GRANT and COLFAX and the city nominees is cordially invited to take part in said election, and none other; and the election officers are hereby respectfully urged to use all possible diligence to preserve the purity of the ballot box and secure a fair return of the votes cast.

The election officers, after the votes are counted, will make up duplicate returns thereof, one of which, with the list of voters, shall be placed in the ballot boxes, and the other taken possession of by the Return Judge; and the Return Judges of the several wards shall present the same at a meeting of Return Judges, to be held at the Common Council Chamber, on TUESDAY, August 18th, at 10 o'clock A. M., when they shall cause the same to be added together, and declare the result, the person receiving the highest vote for each office to be declared the nominee.

The Return Judges, at their meeting, will appoint the City Executive Committee to serve for the ensuing year.

The Committee desires to call the attention of the Election Boards to the following resolution, which was adopted at the last meeting of the Committee:

Resolved, That we recommend to the officers of the Primary Election the enforcement of all legal rules respecting the qualification of voters at general elections, in addition to the requirement that the voter shall be a known member of the Union Republican Party.

A resolution was also passed authorizing the Election Boards to fill all vacancies occurring in the officers of their respective districts.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, August 14, 1868.

The market in gold fluctuated violently to-day, the opening quotations being 148 strong with an upward tendency, but soon the market yielded to 147⅝ again selling up to 147⅞ to 148, but drooping suddenly to 147¼ and closing at 146¾ dull. The cause assigned for the sudden firmness and rise were rumers of war in Europe, but more so the failure of D. C. Fisk a special partner of the firm of Rodman Fisk & Co., he being short several millions of gold at 146, and in order to force him to buy at high rates, the speculative Banker of Wall street and his clique raised the market on him. The clique has an immense amount of contracts in gold outstanding, but their line begins at 139½ to 147½; they can yet average about 142 and perhaps less, so they are perfectly safe. The rise was assisted by the World whose financial Editor no doubt reaps a good benefit of his bull articles, but recently the Times changed from bear to bull and joined in the attempt to run up the premium. The world has always been on the bull side ever since gold touched 133 and has petsistently followed up argument by arguments so plausible, that even the head of the national finances must have been convinced that his Fort Wayne speech and all his other predictions were uttered for political bunkum.

Government bonds are exceedingly dull and decidedly lower, and without doubt are by two or three per cent. too high yet. Large lots are held yet on speculation for a rise, but a sudden decline of the stock market will carry them down several per cent. The more conservative speculators are anxiously wishing for a general break of the stock market, and as soon as the wrecks are cleared away speculation in Governments will take the place of Railroad shares. But no speculator of any good judgment will buy bonds at present prices, and before capitalists will take hold of bonds the market will have to break first.

The great feature of the stock market was the decline of Erie stock from 57¼ to 53⅜, the balance of the market was but little offered, but Monday may witness a decline still greater than the fall of February, 1867.

Express stocks are lower but firm. Money easy at 3 to 4 per cent. on call, and from 8 to 10 per cent, for first-class two months paper. Business dull and quiet.

—The New York Stock quotations to-day as received by Mr. Ph. R. Mertz, were as follows: Gold 146¾; 1881's, 115⅝; 5-20's, 1852, 114⅜; do 1864, 109⅜; do 1865, 112; do new, 108⅜; do 1867, 107⅝; 10-40's, 108⅞; Cleveland & Pittsburgh 86⅜; Fort Wayne, 108; Western Union Telegraph 33¼; Adams Express, 52; Erie, 53⅜.

PITTSBURGH METAL MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, August 14, 1868.

The buoyancy noted in our last report of the crude iron market has been well sustained, the supply of many leading brands of standard forge irons having become exhausted. The sales for the current week have been very much restricted below the demand. It is estimated that stocks of all kinds of raw irons remaining in commission hands in this market to-day doos not exceed fifteen thousand tons.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, August 14, 1868.

The general markets are somewhat more active, and there seems to be a general impression that an improvement in business is near at hand. The only drawback now is the uncertainty in regard to values, and particularly is this the case in Flour and Grain. Opinions are conflicting in this respect; some think that prices are entirely too much inflated, and, as a consequence, are not disposed to do much as yet; while others are inclined to believe that the crops have not or will not turn out as well as expected, and these instead of a decline, anticipated an advance. Wheat in nearly all of the leading markets, both East and West, has been and is still dull and weak with a drooping tendency, and, as a matter of course, Flour follows the track of Wheat.

BUTTER—Is coming in quite freely and the market is less active, though prices are unchanged at 30c to 33c, for good to prime.

EGGS—Continue very dull, with a supply largely in excess of the demand; we now quote at 16c to 18c.

CHEESE—Is steady but unchanged at 14c to 15c for Western Reserve and Hamburg; 16c to 17c for Factory; and 20c for Sweitzer.

HAY—Sales in Allegheny Diamond market of 79 loads at $20 to $28, as to quality. Straw sold at $17,50.

GREEN APPLES—Are coming in pretty freely, though the demand as yet seems to keep up with the supply and prices are maintained at $3,50 to $5 per bbl, as to quality.

PEACHES—Are being sold at $4 to $5 per box.

POTATOES—Quiet and unchanged at $6 to $3,50 per bbl.

GRAIN—Wheat is coming in more freely although the great proportion of the receipts are consigned to the mills; we contiube to quote prime Red at $2,10 to $2,15, and White at $2,15 to $2,20. We are cognizant of a round lot of Ohio Red having been sold at $2,10, to arrive; dealers generally are looking for a decline. Corn is in fair demand, and we can report several sales of prime Yellow at $1,12. New oats sold to-day at 65, and even at this figure the demand does not seem to be brisk. Old oats scarce with sales in store at 83 to 85. Sales of New Rye at $1,25 to $1,35. We hear of some dealers contracting for new crop Barlev in the country at $1,70.

SEEDS—There is some inqury for Timothy Seed, and as the crop this year is reported light, holders are asking an advance, $3,00 to $3,25. Flaxseed is in demand, but there are no sales in this market, and we cannot give quotations. No movement in Clover.

SALT—Is quiet and unchanged at $1,75 to $1,80 to the trade, and $2 in a retail way.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is firm with a steady demand at 14 for Shoulders; 16½ to 16¾ for Ribbed, and 18½ to 18¾ for Clear Sides, and 22 to 22¼ for Sugar Cured Hams. Lard 19¾ and Mess Pork $30 to $30,50.

LARD OIL—Is firm but unchanged at $1,15 for No. 2, and $1,45 for No. 1.

FOUR—There is a fair consumptive demand for prime Old Spring and Winter Wheat, Flours and prices are steady but unhanged. We quote the former at $10,50 to $11 and the latter at $10,75 to $11,25. The Pearl and other City Mills are doing a very good business; we quote Double Extra at $11 in bbls, and $10,70 in sacks; Extra Family, in barrels at $10,50, and in sacks at $10,20. Rye Flour unchanged at $9,25 per barrel.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, August 14, 1868.

CRUDE—The crude market was exceedingly panicky to-day, which was occasioned mainly by a very strong desire on the part of some Oil City parties to sell, and to do this they were obliged to make concessions. We have but a single sale to record, seven car loads at $5,10, delivered on board cars at Venango City. Subsequently there were other offers to sell at the same figure, but towards the close there were no buyers here above $5, and even at that, the demand did not appear to be very urgent. $5,10 at Venango City is considered equivalent to 13¼c delivered here, (allowing 42 gallons to the barrel) which is a decline of a quarter to a half cent within the last day or two.

REFINED—The market for Refined, in sympathy with crude, was also irregular and panicky, and a decline of about half a cent took place during the day. There was a sale of 500 bbls for the last of August at 33c, but later in the day the same delivery was offered at 32¾c, and it was thought it could have been bought at 32½c. Spot oil was offered at 32¼c to 32½c, but there were no buyers above 32c. It is difficult to account for the panicky feeling which has prevailed for the last two or three days, as we have heard of no late strkes or important increase in the production, (that is within the time above mentioned) and the foreign markets have undergone no material change. Some are disposed to regard it as a bear movement, gotten up specially for the occasion, while others think it nothing more nor less than one of the peculiar freaks of the trade.

LETTER FROM COLORADO.

Central City and Nevada Railway Communications—Beautiful Scenery—Healthy Climate—The Rainy Season—Winter—Mails and Telegraph—Water and Steam Mills—Labor—Investment of Money.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

COLORADO TERRITORY, July 31, 1868.

News from this part of the nation may be of interest to some of your readers, and I shall attempt to give you the benefit of my two years' residence out here in the middle of the world. Gold mining is, and has been, the great business here, and, as in all other business, some men make and some lose, and the losers form the majority. In some parts of the Territory, log huts still are fashionable, but if one of your Eastern readers were to come out here, he would be astounded at the solid looking town we have. Brick buildings, such as churches, schools, stores and dwellings are about as much the rule here as at the East. Central City and Nevada, which are in reality the same town, contain about seven thousand inhabitants, six or seven churches and as many ministers. In about a year a branch of the Union Pacific Railroad will be built to Golden City, which is only twenty miles from here, and then it will not be long until we have direct railway connection with the East, and then a few more years will only be needed to get the people to know what kind of a place it is, and it will be the greatest summer resort on the continent. Besides cool days and nights, (the thermometer has not reached eighty degrees this summer,) the scenery is sublime, and there is probably no more interesting trip in the world. I used to enjoy more than anything else, being on the ocean in a storm, contemplating the stupendous rush of mighty waters, and feeling the almighty power of God, and man's insignificance. Here I feel just the same, among these enormous mountains and surrounded by the tremendous stillness of nature. June and July are our rainy season, and during those months we have rain almost every day, then come August and September, more delightful than anything you can imagine, with weather and air such that mere living is pleasure of the highest order. In October the snow begins; but we rarely have more than four to six inches, scarcely enough for sleighing. We can now, from here, see the snow, white on the tops of the ranges some fifteen miles away. Then for health, there is no place like it. When I left the East my health was miserable, I had two physicians attending me, one of whom said I would never live to get here and the other said I might as well come as I would be sure to die any way, and now after two years, I am enjoying better health than ever before, and am a robust man.

Five years ago, if any one had told me that I should be living in or even ever see the Rocky Mountains, I should have hooted at him, and yet here I am and do not feel at all out of the world, for we have a daily mail by six horse coaches and news by telegraph from all parts of the world, which we read in our two daily papers about as soon as you have it in Pennsylvania. We have both steam and water power stamp, grist and saw mills, and yet some of our castings are from Pittsburgh.

In conclusion, this is an excellent place for men to come to who have money, for they can easily make more, but to those who have none, I say don't come unless they be laborers. This latter class receive from $3 to $5 per day, and servant girls receive from $10 to $12 per week and are a scarce article. Money can easily be loaned at 2 to 3 per cent. month, interest payable monthly with good security, but this rate of interest cannot be sustained very long.

Tell your readers to come out here if they want to have a good summer excursion, but when they come, to leave all business behind, spend a month out here, and they will feel much better for it when they go back. R. M.

Origin of the Names for the Days of the Week.

Most persons are familiar with the facts in reference to the nanes of the days of the week, and yet there may be some who are not able to account for the order in which they occur.

The division of time into weeks, was probably first made by the Chaldeans; and the general order as adopted by the ancient people, has existed to the present time.

According to the Ptolematic system, there are seven planets which revole around the earth in the following order of distances, beginning at the most remote—Saturn, Jupiter, Mars, Sun, Venus. Mercury, Moon.

The day being divided into twenty-four hours, and each hour, by turns, being devoted in theory to one or another, in regular order, of the divinities which ruled the planets, the present order of days was necessary, in order to keep up an uninterrupted succession.

Saturn or Saturday, was the first day of the week, the first hour of which was olso devoted to Saturn, the second hour to Jupiter, the third to Mars, the fourth to Sun, the fifth to Venus, the sixth to Mercury, the seventh to Moon. The eighth was in regular succession devoted to saturn, so also the fifteenth and the twenty-second the twenty-third to Jupiter, the twenty-fourth to Mars, and the first hour of the second day to Sun, hence the day is called Sunday. By continuing the same order Sun answers to the eighth, fifteeth and twenty-seconds; the twenty-third is Venus, the twenty-fourth Mercury, and the first hour in the third day is Moon, hence Moonday or Monday.

Moon answers to the eighth, fifteenth or twenty-second hours; the twenty-third to Saturn; the twenty-fourth to Jupiter; the first hour of the fourth day is Mars—Saxon, Tuisco or Tig, hence Tuesday.

The first hour of the fifth day by the same succession, will be Mercury—Saxon, Wodeno, hence Wednesday. The order gives the first hour of the sixth day to Jupiter, the Saxon Thor, hence Thursday. Friday, likwise, gives its first hour to Venus—Saxon, Frigga.

These results may be conveniently grouped in the following tabular form:

Saturn,	Jupiter,	Mars,	Sun,	Venus,	Mercury,	Moon.
Saturn	1	8	15	22	Jupiter	Mars. 24
Sun	1	8	15	22	Venus	Mercury 24
Moon	1	8	15	22	Saturn	Jupiter 24
Mars	1	8	15	22	Sun	Venus 24
Mercury	1	8	15	22	Moon	Saturn 24
Jupiter	1	8	15	22	Mars	Sun 24
Venus	1	8	15	22	Mercury	Moon 24

Repeats in same order perpetually.

ONE of those awful tragedies, involving woman, beauty, youth, love, crime, but no ardent spirits, unless high and desperate resolve comes under that category, has transpired at Baw's Ferry, in Mississippi. A young man was engaged to be married, but alas, he was poor. His love finally overcame his scruples, and he forged his sweetheart's father's name for the paltry sum of $160. The old man—relentless tyrant—jugged him. The maiden wept and prayed for his release, but in vain. So, like a good girl, she got a nice pistol, some good files, and clothed in alpaca and her modesty, obtained permission to visit the cell where languished her hero. He filed off the darbies, shot one guard, mortally wounded two others, and fled like a deer to New Orleans—distance not mentioned—where, safely concealed, he awaits his inamorata and a remittance.

CLIPPINGS.

THE STRIKE ENDED.—The strike among the miners along the Shenango Valley has ended, and the miners went to work again last week. This strike has made a difference of over half a million dollors in the business of this valley, has reduced the earnings of the railways and canal a quarter of a million, and has affected the lake trade and the country immediataly interested in the mines more than half a million dollars more.—Greenville Argus.

AT PORTICI, near Naples, so little value is set upon human life that a man recently murdered an acquaintance for the sum of two cents! Criminal returns in this district show for the month of June last nineteen murders, two hundred and thirteen cases of stabbing, three suicides and one hundred and eighty minor crimes. If this state of things existed about two thousand years ago, it is no wonder that Vesuvius played such an ugly trick on Pompeii.

THE war-pressure has been so great in Brazil that the Emperor and Empress have contributed a quarter of their income to help the public purse, and the other members of the Imperial family one-fifth of theirs. At the same time the Emperor has refused to have any exemption from the tax of three per cent. on all earnings over six hundred dollars yearly, and pays that proportion of the revenue allowed him for the support of his State as head of the Empire.

THEY have curious ideas of punishment out West. The Quincy (Ill.) Herald, after relating a diabolical attempt by a ruffian to destroy a house and its inmates by setting fire to a room which contained two barrels of gunpowder, adds: "He ought to be sent to the workhouse for at least thirty days!" From the wording of the sentence, it would appear that the writer is not sure that even so rigorous a punishment as "thirty days" will be inflicted on the prisoner.

AN association of Cambria and Blair county business men have leased from E. F. Hodges, of Boston, with the privilege of buying hereafter, the furnace at Conemaugh Station, Cambria county, which has been out of blast for several years. They have also leased, under, the same condition, 450 acres of ore and coal lands adjoining the furnace, and the ore right of 2,300 acres on the Broad Top Railroad in Huntingdon county. The furnace is now in blast.

AT A recent meeting of the committee of the Harvard graduates on the Alumni hall and Harvard memorial, it was stated that up to the present time $142,000 of the memorial fund had been received. Five thousand dollars in addition to this have been placed in the hands of the treasurer, and there is due from subscribers about $46,000—$35,000 of which is considered good—making in all $182,000 toward a fund of $300,000, which it will cost to complete the proposed structure in accordance with the plans adopted by the building committee. The corner stone of the commemoration hall, it is thought, can be laid about the middle of October next.

THE largest rose bush in existence is in the Marine Garden at Toulon, France. It is called the Lady Banks, and covers a wall seventy-feet in width, and eighteen feet in height. The trunk measures, near the root, two feet eight inches. During the month of April it produces fifty thousand white roses. The oldest known rose bush is the one which grows on the wall of the cathedral at Hildesheim, Prussia. It is one thousand years old, and from its trunk, which is one foot in diameter, extends six branches fifteen feet in height. The Bishop of Hildesheim, in the Middle Ages, had it covered with a roof to protect it from the inclemency of the weather.

ON the recent wedding day of the grand Duke of Mecklenburg the rejoicings of the party assembled at the dinner table were suddenly brought to a very disagreeable close. All the guests were suddenly taken very sick, a rather large quantity of arsenic having been added to a pudding, of which everybody seated at the table had partaken. It was discovered that one of the girls in the kitchen had thrown the rat poison into the sugar-box, whence it had found its way into the pudding. Emetics quickly administered relieved the sufferers, but the wedding day of a sovereign Prince hardly ever closed in as dismal a manner as that of the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg.

MOUNT VERNON, the burial place of Washington, is in a dilapidated and disgraceful condition; but it is visited by hundreds constantly, and every visitor has to pay a fee of fifty cents. There was a terrible hubbub raised a few years ago by the old ladies who christened themselves "Regents" of the Mount Vernon Association, about the then owner of the property "selling the bones of Washington;" and a considerable sum was raised by Mr. Everett and the "Regents" to rescue the bones from the mercenary hands of the dickering F. F. V. Some explanation of the right of the Association to now turn the tomb of Washington into a peep-show would be acceptable.

AT MACON, a New Orleans firm, by Carre's apparatus, are producing forty tons of ice per day, and increasing their capacity by the addition of machines, so that by next spring they hope to produce 150 tons each day. The machines, however, are elaborate and costly, the largest being valued at $25,000 and capable of producing more than ten tons per day, at a cost estimated at $3 to $5. The daily expense is a very little fuel and the cost of working. Congelation is produced by the alternate evaporization and liquefaction of aqua ammonia, by which cakes of ice are formed every five minutes in twenty pound slabs about three inches thick, which are piled upon one another and congealed to any desired thickness.

AN ART GALLERY, to cost one million and a half of dollars, is to be erected on Fifth avenue, New York. Mr. Henry Keep, a wealthy railroad man, has bought a lot two hundred feet square on Fifth avenue, between West Fifty-first and Fifty-second streets, where the building is to be constructed. After founding and endowing the art gallery, Mr. Keep proposes to place it in charge of a committee of ladies of a fixed number, with provision to fill the vacancies as they occur from death or otherwise. A small admission fee is to be charged each visitor, the revenue coming from which is to form a fund for two purposes: first, the care and repair of the building and its contents; second, the surplus for the relief of the poor of all nations needing succor in the city of New York.

For SMOKE AND HOT AIR FLUES, dispensing with the use of Stoves and Fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached.

Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be adplied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended. It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues, or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, facteries, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c., wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired. I will sell, on application, rights to manufacture or to use the above invention; also, territorial rights, to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges, either by State or county.

Blessing alleges that after running the bill, Neely sold all his personal property and is about to leave the State. Neely was arrested and held for a hearing.

Twice Assaulted.—James Hamill made information yesterday before Alderman Taylor against Daniel Cochran, charging him with assault and battery. Hamill alleges that Cochran knocked him down twice and kicked him when he was down. The parties are puddlers, Hamill being engaged at Moorhead's mill and Cochran at Zug's.

Selling Hay Without Weighing.—A countryman named Andrew Frank was arrested yesterday, charged on oath of Geo. B. McNulty, Weighmaster Diamond Scales, Allegheny, with violating a city ordinance by selling a load of hay without having it weighed. The accused was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Drum, which he paid and was discharged.

Malicious Mischief.—Robert Tollson, a colored man, alleges that while returning in a buggy from a picnic at Oakland, on the first of August, he was run into by another colored individual named Benjamin Richichs, who jammed into him and tore a wheel from his vehicle, damaging it to the amount of $18,90. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Benjamin by Alderman McMasters.

Little Girl Run Over.—A little girl named Stewart received severe internal injuries by being run over on Robinson street, Allegheny, on Thursday evening. She was standing on the sidewalk, when a horse attached to a lumber wagon became frightened and ran off, shying over to the place where she was standing with the result as stated. She is lying at her home in a very precarious condition.

Slight Fire.—A slight fire occurred yesterday in the residence of Dr. Shaw, corner of Penn street and Garrison alley. The fire originated in the attic from a defective flue. No general alarm was given, but the Neptune engine was on the ground and succeeded in putting the fire out before any damage was done. Several of the rafters were slightly burned, but the flames did not break through the roof.

About to Move.—Henry Becker made information, yesterday, before Alderman Baille, against Frederick Schuly, charging him with fraud. Beckar alleges that Schuly borrowed $25 from him, which he promised to pay soon, and he has since sold his establishment, preparatory to moving to Wheeling, without paying the prosecutor. Schuly was arrested, paid the $28 and costs of prosecution, and was discharged.

Death of Jas. S. Adams, Esq.—Last night, after a lingering illness, Mr. James S. Adams departed this life at his residence, in Allegheny City. The deceased was for many years businesss manager of the Chicago Times, under the management of J. W. Shahan, Esq., a position which he filled with marked ability. He was subquently connected with the Post of that city. The deceased leaves many warm friends to mourn his loss, as he was the possesor of a genial disposition and a noble heart.

Three Charges.—Maggie M'Clarren made information yesterday before Alderman McMasters against Wm. Hartz and Mary Jane Wilson, charging them with keeping a bawdy house. She alleges that the defendants from the 1st of January to the 31st of July maintained a bawdy house on Franklin, Chatham and Pine street and on Virgin Alley.

The Music Committee of the Central Board of Education met on Friday evening and unanimously agreed to nominate Miss W. B. Slack, J. M. Darling and John D. Hughes to the Board for the position of Music Teachers in the District Schools of the Consolidated City—very admirable selections.

Call again, gentlemen; you are always welcome.

Tobacco and Cigars.—At John Megraw's, No. 45 Hand street, you will find the best Cigars and Tobacco to be found in the city. This house is one of the largest in the city and can sell as low, if not lower, than any other house here. Aquatic.—On the 22d of the present month a boat race, between two amateur oarsman of the vicinity, Hart and Scott, will take place over the Allegheny course. The parties had a meeting at the "Blue Wing," on Union street, last evening, and settled the preliminaries. The race is to be for three miles, starting at Herron Island, on the Allegheny river, rowing a mile and a half down and return to place of starting. Mr. R Ramsey is to be stakeholder and the race is for $200 a side.

A Moving Difficulty.—Mrs. Nancy Teats residing at Oakland, made information yesterday before Alderman McMasters against Catharine Bussman for assault and battery. Mrs. Teats says that her sister occupied a room in the house with Mrs. Bussman, from whieh she concluded to move, and in pursuance of that design both sisters were engaged in carrying away the moveables, when they were attacked by Mrs. Bussman and beat and abused in a shameful manner. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Mrs. Bussman.

Chastised Him.—Robert Millby, employed as engineer on the steamer Laura No. 2, became tired of the city and concluded to take a trip into the country, and he accordingly did so. During his absence his employer secured the services of James Bolan to act in his stead. Upon returning home and finding himself as he supposed supplanted, Millby. it is alleged, became exasperated and attacked Bolan and knocked him down. Alderman Bailie issued a warrant for the arrest of Millby, on an information for assault and battery.

Boy Run Over.

A little boy about twelve years of age, named Baker, was run over on Wednesday by a wagon and had one of his legs badly bruised, though no bones were broken. It seems he was seated on a wagon driven by his father, along Penn street, in the Tenth ward, and while the vehicle was being turned off the track, the lad was jolted off in front, both wheels passing over one of his legs as stated. His injuries, though severe, are not considered fatal.

City Mortality.

Dr. A. G. McCandless, Physician to the Board of Health, reports the following interments in the city of Pittsburgh from August 2 to August 9, 1868:

Males..... 9 } White..... 29 } Total... 29
Females.... 20 } Colored.... — }

Diseases—Adults: Consumption, 1; Abcess of Brain, 1; Cancer, 1—4. Children—Unknown, 3; Diptheria, 1; Debility, 3; Convulsions, 1; Cholera Infantum, 6; Heart Disease, 1; Disease of Brain, 3; Hydrocephalus, 3; Pneumonia, 2; Marasmus, 2—25.

Of the above there were: Under 1 year, 19; from 1 to 2, 2; 2 to 5, 2; 10 to 15, 2; 20 to 30, 1; 30 to 40, 1; 40 to 50; 50 to 60, 1.

The Wrong Method.

Thomas Morgan, being in need of some articles of wearing apparel, adopted, what seemed to him, the easiest method of supplying his needs, and while sauntering along last evening, he appropriated a pair of pants and a vest from a box in front of the clothing store of Snodgrass & Bro., No. 41 Ohio street, Allegheny. Unfortunately for Thomas, the attendant behind the counter inside noticed the action and started in pursuit, accompanied by officers Kingan and Shaffer. They quickly overtook the retreating party, and relieved him of the articles and of his liberty at the same time, and Thomas is now in durance vile in the lock-up, awaiting a hearing on a charge of larceny, preferred against him by Mr. Snodgrass.

A Collision—Boy Injured.

Yesterday evening a son of Mr. John Craytom of Allegheny was seriously injured under the following circumstances. He was driving a one horse barouche in which were seated his two sisters, along the road near the toll gate at the head of Federal street when by some reason the vehicle came in contact with a wagon coming from an opposite direction. The barouche was upset, and the occupants thrown to the ground. The boy had one of his legs broken and was otherwise seriously injured by the force of the fall. The girls suffered several severe bruises but are not dangerously hurt. They were all conveyed to their residence an Federal street, and a physician summoned who attended to their injuries.

Alleged Thief.

A pair of pants and a vest the property of Thomas Trainer in company with about one hundred and fifty dollars disappeared very mysteriously from Thomas' boarding house on Webster street yesterday evening and from certain circumstances he believes that a fellow boarder named Patrick S. Flemings could if he would, tell where the missing articles are at present located. It is alleged that Patrick for some reason failed to go to work but loitered round the house all day. In the evening about six o'clock it is said he was seen in Thomas' room, where the articles of clothing were lying on a bed. Afterwards money and articles were gone and nothing has been heard from Patrick since, which circumstances coming together seemed rather strange. A warrant has been issued and the officers are in search of the missing man.

Carelessness.

The ground on Smallman street, old Ninth ward, was undermined for a length of nearly one hundred feet yesterday morning through the gross carelessness of somebody. It seems that workmen have been engaged in laying a water main on the street, and at a point near Morton street an "elbow" has been inserted for the purpose of connecting a fire-plug. The stopper, which should have been inserted in the open end of the elbow, was left out, and when the water was let on yesterday morning it resulted in a torrent through the opening with the result as stated. The Street Commissioner happening near by, discovered the difficulty and had it stopped. We are informed that the responsible party will be dealt with.

The Immortal "J. N."—He Still Assumes the Pressure and Patiently Awaits the Lifting of the Veil.

The immortal "J. N.," the great philosopher and martyr, on whose broad shoulders rest the grave responsibilities of lifting the veil which now darkens the intellect of America, and of assuming the pressure, at least until such time as his mission on earth shall have been accomplished, paid our sanctum a visit yesterday. The writer, who he has assured in the golden eloquence of his soul that the veil must be lifted ere long from his eyes, unfortunately was not in to receive his distinguished philosophical friend, but received the following communication, the original of which will be treasured as an autographic gem worth its weight in diamonds, for "J. N.'s" mission will soon be accomplished, and when the veil has been lifted and he has passed away from this mundane sphere millions may sing his praise and marvel how he alone assumed the pressure without a murmuring word. But here is the Philosopher and Martyr's letter:

My dear Friend: I passed through Pittsburgh to-day, on my way to Cleveland, where I will assume the pressure and lift the veil. I will visit you in a few weeks hence and once more lift the veil which appears to enshroud my travels. I ignore politics entirely, for no person can be a lover of truth and at the same time be identified with party prejudice. He must look at truth as truth is. Under no circumstances could I have voted with either party, or during the continuance of the war fought in the ranks of either army. Holding the great truth alone, assuming myself the pressure, becoming a martyr to the surrounding prejudices on all sides, I stood without a friend to believe that I was sole custodian of the great secret and touchstone of peace, or held the key to harmony and union. The day is not far distant when all will think as I do, or at least that I discharged my duty to my country and the people in acting as a martyr to their prejudices.

I have just returned from a visit to Gen. R. E. Lee, who I met at the Warm Springs, Virginia. He now agrees with me that my position is the correct one; says he no longer entertains prejudice against the Northern people; thinks they did right as patriots in fighting the South from their standpoint, though he was a rebel,—so much for the lifting of the veil from his vision. Now if Gen. Grant can feel the same way from a Northern standpoint then the grand truth I alone hold will be developed and recognized, that both armies fought through patriotism and as patriots, each misunderstanding the motives of the other. Both right, both wrong. The North that the South rebelled; the South that the North invaded. The veil enveloped them all. I assumed the pressure and the truth is about to burst forth radient with beauty and my great mission of self-martyr is nigh an end. I speak at Altoona on the 15th inst. Respectfully, "J, N."

Popular Prices, large stocks and fine goods—Bates & Bell's.

A Favorite Resort.

The well-known establishment of Mr. Jacob B. Hubley, 27 and 29 Fourth street, is justly celebrated for its superior appointments for supplying articles for weddings, parties, banquets, festivals, &c., on the most approved style of the confection art. The most artistic, elaborate designs, gotten up by the best workmen in the trade, are supplied to order with quick dispatch. The elegant banquets on several public occasions recently, and the numerous fashionable weddings of late years in this community have been pronounced by well-traveled people equal in style and taste to any other city in the country. The house was established in 1824, and has always been held in high estimation. Residents of any standing are familiar with this "institution," and recent comers need only to be assured that the best in the trade can be obtained at this place.

For years, commenced at the urgent solicitation of numerous customers, Mr. Hubley has had a department in the establishment for supplying meals to order, comprising the delicacies of the season, gotten up in elegant style. The orderly manner in which it is conducted, and the attention of the waiters, has attracted very select custom. In a word, the cui-sine department is first-class. Provision is especially made for ladies and families to dine, in a quiet retired department, which is highly appreciated by a large nun.ber of the fair ones out shopping, and by the elite living in the beautiful villas and palatial residences, which girdle our city.

Visitors will find Mr. Hubley, and his capable assistant, Mr. Alex. F. Hay, obliging and attentive to all who call. And those who may have occasion for the services of John Palmer, and his corps of assistant waiters, will be handsomely served.

The Simonton Robbery.

On or about the twelfth of July last the jewelry store of Mr. Simonton, on Liberty street, was entered by burglars, and goods to the amount of $100 taken therefrom. The circumstances connected with the affair were published indetail, and it was also stated that the police had the matter in hand and were "working it up." The case, it appears, was entrusted to officers Moon and Irwin, both energetic and efficient officers, and they have in a great measure been successful. As Mr. Simonton was unable to give a definite description of any of the articles stolen, and the thieves having most effectively covered their "tracks," the officers had very little to work upon. They set themselves diligently to work, however, and by some means got a clew to one piece of the jewelry which they obtained, and through it recovered a large portion of what had been stolen, captured one of the thieves, aud will probably take the other this morning. The job was a difficult one, as the jewelry was scattered promiscuously through the city, and a portion of it was recovered in Allegheny, and a great portion of it one piece at a place. Most of that recovered was in the possession of the demi monde, and in one instance one of the frail creatures was stopped on the street and relieved of a pin which, it appears, had been presented to her by one of the thieves. The officers deserve great credit for the manner in which the affair was managed, notwithstanding it was comparatively a small job, as they have not only recovered the property, but have captured the thieves, or at least one of them.

Good Hoop Skirts for 50c—Bates & Bell's.

Robbing a Till.

John Winterstein, a boy about twelve years of age, was arrested yesterday, by officer Cupples, for robbing a till at the corner of Penn and Canal streets. It appears that Mrs. Wills grocery, at the place named was entered on Thursday evening by a boy, who, during the absence of the proprietress, abstracted two dollars from the till and made his escape. Yesterday another attempt was made which, however, did not prove so successful as the first. While the lady was in the front part of the store she heard a noise in the back part of the room, where the money drawer is located, and upon going back found Winterstein with his hand in the till. He had entered at a back door and had succeeded in getting possession of six or seven dollars, which he had pocketed, and was about to clean the drawer of its contents when detected. He attempted to run but was caught by the lady to whom he returned the money, and then breaking away from her started to run. Officer Cupples, who was on duty in the vicinity, seeing the boy running caught him and took him to the lock-up. Mrs. Wills made information against him before the Mayor, and it is probable he will be sent to the House of Refuge.

Accidental Poisoning—Narrow Escape.

The family of Mr. Carroll Kotzue, residing on Troy Hill, Allegheny, were accidentally poisoned on Thursday evening, the effect of which would have been very serious, but for the timely arrival of medical assistance.

The circumstances of the case, as near as we could gather them, are about as follows: A few days ago Mrs. Kotzue purchased a small quantity of arsenic for the purpose of poisoning the rats which had troubled her about the house. Bringing the arsenic home she mixed it with some ground glass and placed it on a beam or rafter in the kitchen ceiling. By some misthought, it seems, the poison was placed directly over the table from which the framily partook their meals. On the evening in question Mrs. Kotzue cooked the supper as usual, preparing some of the food used on the table under the poison.

In the evening after eating the meal Mr. Kotzue and one of the children, a little girl, became very sick, and from the symptoms manifested it was supposed that they had been poisoned. A physician, whose name we failed to learn, was summoned immediately and administered the proper remedies, under which the patients began to revive.

Mr. Kotzue was almost restored yesterday, and was able to be about, but the little girl, although somewhat improved, is still suffering from the effects. It is supposed that some of the poison was shaken from the rafters down upon the table, and by this means became mixed among the food. It seems strange that none of the family but the two named should have felt the effect, but this is partly explained by the fact both of them seemed to be specially hungry that evening and ate more heartily than usual of the food prepared.

This is but another warning for persons who keep poison around the house for any purpose to have more care, for carelessness in this respect is nothing less than criminal.

A New Life Insurance Company in the Field.

In no community elsewhere is the subject of life insurance better understood or more thoroughly appreciated than in Pittsburgh. It has long been a matter of surprise that the Atlantic Mutual Company, of Albany, New York, one of the very safest and best in the country, and one which commends itself to the public in a thousand ways, should have no branch office in this city, in order that our citizens might take advantage of its benefits and specialties. But we are glad to be able to say that the oversight is about to be remedied, and those desiring to enjoy its privileges will be afforded an opportunity for so doing. We accidentally learned that the enterprising in-General Agent, J. E. Saltzer, Esq, is having a commodious office fitted up at No. 108 Smithfield street, where those desiring to insure with the Atlantic or to learn of its peculiar benefits and advantages, can do so by calling. Our worthy fellow citizen, Ed. P. Kearns, Esq., has accepted the position of Agent. In commending the Atlantic to our readers we feel that all are acquainted with its past honorable and successful career, and that no word of ours is necessary to secure it the confidence of our readers.

The Hydraulic Cow Milker.

The present century has produced few inventions of more genuine and lasting value, or wide spread utility, than the Hydraulic Cow Milker. Crowds of persons are calling daily at the Company's Branch Office in this city, No. 10 St. Clair street, for the purpose of examing this invention, and all are amazed that a discovery at once so simple and effective should not have been made long ago. To every farm and dairy in the country these machines will become as indispensible as churns or milk pails in less than a year, and their sale must soon become a very large profitable business throughout the United States.—Commercial.

Fine French Corsets—Bates & Bell's.

Most Bitters of the present day that are loudly puffed through the newspapers as having great curative properties are vile compounds and base impositions, containing no medicinal virtues whatever, and are really very poor whisky beverages, and, instead of acting as a stimulant and tonic, have a tendency to weaken the stomach by entirely destroying the coating. The public should therefore be very cautious and purchase none but Roback's Stomach Bitters, which have stood the test as a remedial agent for many years, and are really as their name indicates, a stomach bitters and not a beverage. They combine the properties of the best tonic and a stimulant—a laxative, an efficient and anti-bilious agent and the best stomachic known to the world, and when taken in conjunction with Roback's Blood Pills, are the safest and surest preventive against all bilious derangements, thoroughly regulating the whole system and giving tone to the digestive organs.

They are highly recommended as an invigorating tonic to mothers while nursing, increasing the flow of milk, and for convalescents, to restore the prostration which always follows long-continued sickness, they are unsurpassed. No household should consider themselves safe from the ordinary maladies without these invaluable medicines. They can be obtained of any druggist. TTsF

The Mayoralty—Is it too Late to do Good?—Is it not Early Enough to Select a Good Man for our Candidate?

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Is it ever too late to do good? It is not, either in religion or politics, and yet the only word of objection raised against James Robb, the representative coming fresh from the people, is that "it is too late," that he should have been earlier in the field to secure success. If Mr. Robb were a politician, a ringleader or clique manipulator it might with consistency be urged that he entered the field too late; but he fills none of these positions. He was sought out by men who are not politicians, who trusted for his nomination on the good sense of the people who are not identified with the trickery of politics. He is the best and strongest man in the field and let none be entrapped into voting against him on the ground that he was put forward too late. It is not too late to cast your vote for a good man up to the moment the polls close. Will you improve time and vote for him? VIGILANCE.

One of the Mayor's Police Says Chronic Catarrh Had Reduced Him in Weight to 141 Pounds, and That Under Proper Treatment He Has Been Relieved of the Distress, and Has Gained Twenty-two Pounds, Now Weighing 163 Pounds.

I certify that I had been dangerously afflicted with chronic catarrh of the head, which reduced me in weight to 151 pounds; I tried several physicians without avail, and had lost nearly all hope of ever being cured, or even receiving any benefit, being frequently confined to bed for six weeks at a time. I was induced to apply to Dr. Aborn, of 134 Smithfield street, on the 24th of March last, and it affords me great pleasure to state that I have been constantly gaining since I placed myself under the Doctors skillful treatment, and have gained twenty-two pounds of healthy flesh, and indeed, I look and feel like a new being, many of my friends scarcely recognizing me, such a marvelous change having been wrought in my health. WM. FLINN,
City officer, under Mayor Blackmore, Residence, Fifth ward, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Deafness Cured.

Dr. Aborn 134 Smithfield street, Pittsburgh—Dear Sir: After having been partially deaf for near two years, which has increased so as to be quite annoying for the last six months, I have taken your medicine for one month, and believe my hearing is completely restored. The discharge from the ears which was quite annoying and very profuse, seems to have entirely disappeared Respectfully yours, &c..

"It Might Have Been!"

Of all sad words of tongue or pen,
The saddest are, "It might have been."

More sad is this, we daily see,
It is, but hadn' ought to be.

To those who in their hour of need
Will try to sew without a WEED,

And feel with bitter anguish keen
Somehow they've got the wrong machine—

Each trial adds one failure more,
Till life becomes a perfect bore.

The moral of these verses read—
If you'd be happy, BUY A WEED!

Then care, the spectre of the day,
Will take his traps and sneak away.

GENUINE

GLYCERINE TOILET SOAP,

MANUFACTURED BY

PETER SQUIRE, 277 Oxford street, London.

This Soap has been, by a peculiar process, freed from the excess of alkali almost invariably found even in the purest Soaps, and at the same time it is made to take up a large quantity of Glycerine (40 per cent). It is to this latter substance that it chiefly owes its soothing quality—softening the skin, preserving the complexion, preventing chapping and the unpleasant roughness experienced in cold weather. It is found most useful in alleviating the irritation produced by dryness of the skin. On account of its great purity it recommends itself to all persons that suffer from the use of common Soaps; for delicate skins it is the only Soap that can be tolerated. It is particularly useful for cleansing diseased skins, where the irritation produced by ordinary Soaps causes so much inconvenience. It is the most agreeable Shaving Soap that can be used, leaving the skin soft and comfortable. The Soaps usually sold as Glycerine Soaps contain little or no Glycerine. It is only necessary to apply the tongue to the surface and the genuine will be distinguished by the sweet taste. Agent,

SIMON JOHNSTON,

Corner Smithfield and Fourth Streets.
